

This composition is inspired by the minimalist composers and their works; Terry Riley's "In C" as well as Gorecki's Symphony No. 3. The piece features layering instruments entering in one at a time and building together until the climax at about 1.38. Then, slowly, the instruments fade and the sound leads to the layers underneath continuing until the first pattern.